FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Bob Lewis Selected to Lead Vette Corp's North American Power Division

Manchester, New Hampshire (USA) May 21, 2008 – Vette Corp (Vette), a leading global provider of thermal management solutions, announces Bob Lewis as president and general manager of its Ontario, New York based North American power division. Mr. Lewis joins Vette from a private consultancy that he built advising American and foreign manufacturers on global business expansion. Prior to starting his firm, Mr. Lewis was the managing director of the Asia Pacific business unit at Belden CDT, Inc. In this role he led a restructuring effort and ultimately a profitable turnaround of the company's electronics manufacturing and distribution divisions.

According to Vette's President and CEO George Dannecker, "We're excited to have Bob join our management team to direct the growth of our cooling solutions for high power electronics. His experience across Southeast Asia, Russia, Europe, and the Americas will be invaluable as the applications for solar power, hybrid electric cars, trains, escalators and people movers continue to grow and we work closely with our customers on their product and technology roadmaps. For many of these applications, the ability to cool high-power electronics is a critical design element in their next generation products," Dannecker concluded.

Mr. Lewis's background also includes product and sales management experience, as well as directorships for a several manufacturing organizations. Through his executive and consulting positions, Mr. Lewis has developed and managed international business ventures and directed significant business growth achieved through acquisitions, joint ventures, aggressive sales strategies, new product launches and operational improvements. Additionally, Mr. Lewis holds several certifications and educational degrees including a Masters of Business Administration from University of New Haven, CT and a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Roger Williams University, RI.
